

Meet Dr. Gina C. Pham, a devoted pediatric dentist who is deeply dedicated to the oral health of children. Holding her dental degree from Howard University College of Dentistry in Washington, DC, Dr. Pham's sincere affection for kids drove her to specialize in pediatric dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh School of Dental Medicine. She completed her residency in July 2002.

Dr. Pham's path in dentistry led her to private practice, where she meticulously learned her clinical skills alongside seasoned mentors in Pittsburgh and Maryland. Following the expansion of her family, she took a leap to Northern Virginia, establishing her first small practice in Woodbridge, VA. Since then, her practice has thrived, a testament to her unwavering commitment and expert proficiency.

Dr. Pham returned to the heart of DC in 2018. She founded practices in the North East and North West neighborhoods. Her outstanding contributions to dentistry have not gone unnoticed, earning her earnings as a top dentist from esteemed publications such as The Washingtonian magazine, Northern Virginia Living, and Northern Virginian Magazine.

Dr. Pham's comprehensive approach to pediatric dentistry truly shines. Whether it's preventive care, dental restorations, sedation dentistry, or hospital care, her practice covers children's dental health needs. Alongside her team of associate doctors and highly trained staff, she ensures that every child receives top-notch dental care delivered with the utmost gentleness and care.

Dr. Gina C. Pham's commitment to her profession and genuine love for children create an environment that nurtures young smiles on their journey to lifelong oral health.
